Section 2

Finish The Pattern:

On the left side of the example below there are five squares arranged in the correct order. One of these squares has been left empty. To answer the question, select which of the five squares on the right finishes the pattern by taking the place of the empty square. Mark its letter on your answer sheet.

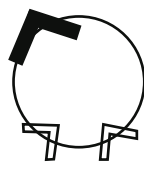

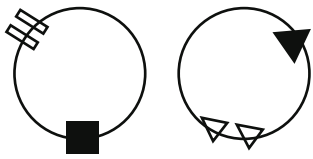

In the example above the answer is option E, the pictures alternate so that the first, third and fifth square are all matching, white with no lines and rotated 90 degrees. As the empty square is the fifth one, we know it must also match the first and third square.

Now look at the example below. This series is made up of nine squares arranged in the correct order, as you can see on the left side. One of these squares has been left empty. One of the five squares on the right should finish the pattern by taking the place of the empty square.

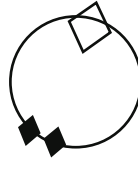

In the example above the answer is option D. Each column of the series has a circle, square and triangle, which all have the same design. The rows all contain the same shape but with a different pattern. The second column design is stripes and the third row is made up of triangles, option D fits this criteria and contains a striped triangle pointing the same direction as the rest in the series, so it must be the correct answer.

Make A Pair:

In the example below are two shapes with an arrow between them shown on the left. To answer the question, decide how the second shape is related to the first shape. After these there is a third shape beside an arrow and then five more shapes. Decide which of the five shapes goes with the third one to make a pair in the same way as the two on the left. Mark this letter on your answer sheet.

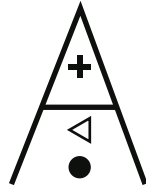

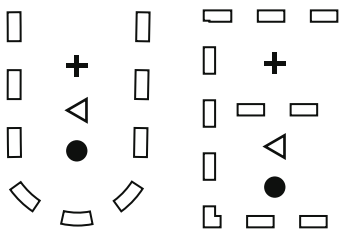

In the example above the answer is option B. The shape is rotated 90 degrees clockwise and the larger shape becomes striped.

Now look at the second example below.

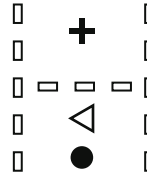

In the example above the answer is option C. A smaller square is placed inside the original square with a vertical line down the middle of the inner square.
